February 2022 Newsletter

President's Message

Dear BOND members,

I read an Opinion Exchange article in the Star Tribune that really resonated with me. The heading was "How to Become a Better Volunteer" and was written by a recently retired, active volunteer in a non-profit organization. What I really identified with was a paragraph that talked about what we get in return as a benefit of being a volunteer and I want to share it with you.

The writer (and I) believe that volunteering gives structure to our lives, entries into our calendars, reasons to set an alarm, reasons to think about our appearance and get dressed, and above all, to know that you can be making a difference in someone's life. We can make the argument that volunteering does more for volunteers than for those they help!!

This newsletter is filled with activities that reward your membership and commitment to BOND. Please take the time to carefully read, participate, and enjoy what BOND is giving back to you, and understand the impact that you can be making on others.

When much of the world feels grim, let's be aware of our blessings, our families, and the love around us. There is still much to be thankful for! Wishing you a safe, healthy, and meaningful 2022.

Affectionately, Saralee Mogilner

BOND President 952-935-2156 or saraleem@comcast.net

"#ME TOO Movement and the Jewish Community"

Monday, February 28, 2022 ▪ 11:00 AM Central Time ▪ Free program—ZOOM meeting ▪ Guests Welcome
Instructions to join the Zoom meeting below

Hazzan Joanna Dulkan, Adath Jeshurun Congregation, will present a program on how the Jewish community is responding to continuing revelations of sexual misconduct, structural gender inequity and continuing microaggressions. What types of responses have arisen and who is leading the way? The work to combat these phenomena has only recently begun, but the conversation is very much alive and active. From movement-wide initiatives to individual organizations working on best practices, how is the culture continuing to change? Hazzan Dulkan has been involved in these conversations as a national leader in the Cantors Assembly and Judaism's Conservative Movement. There will be an opportunity for questions and discussion on a very challenging issue in today's conflicted world!

Getting to Know our Members

Each month we highlight a BOND member. Enjoy!!

Meet Sharon Zweigbaum

Sharon Chernoff Zweigbaum was born in St. Paul and her family relocated to St. Louis Park when she was age 10.

At St. Louis Park High School, Sharon's progressive art teacher inspired her interest in art history. At the University of Minnesota, she received a B.A. degree cum laude, majoring in art history and humanities. She recalls her father asking, "Can you make a buck with that degree?" Sharon had answered an ad before her graduation and just days after, she started a job at the new Dayton's Gallery 12. She claims her several years there were "like a graduate school education." Meeting soon-to-be-famous artists, assembling exhibitions, and selling art that fostered local collections were very exciting.

Sharon met her future husband Jerry on a blind date when she was 15. They married while still in college, which was unusual at the time. They shared an interest in the arts, travel and family values. Jerry's career flourished in the business world.

Over the years Sharon managed five art galleries, including Gallery 12, Overland Gallery and Dolly Fiterman Fine Arts. As a free-lance curator, Sharon implemented large regional exhibitions. A highlight was the 1997 project, "Creating and Connecting: Art by Jewish Women," for the Jewish Historical Society of the Upper Midwest and College of St. Catherine. She also directed ArtVantage, a Twin Cities tour service that promoted the visual arts. U.S. excursions included group visits to Santa Fe and Chicago. She oversaw Adath Jeshurun's art collection for 40 years and produced shows there.

Sharon re-entered the U of M for her M.A. 19 years after her first degree. Very determined, she received the degree after two years of focused study and thesis completion, which she describes as a juggling act, having three teens at home. Jerry and Sharon's adult children Michelle, Darren and Lori (Liba) have diverse interests today but enjoy art in their lives. Sharon cherishes her six grandchildren ages 6-21, and loves taking them on trips and on tours around the Twin Cities.

Before Jerry's untimely cancer death in 2001, they had traveled extensively throughout the world. Sharon has carried on Jerry's adventurous spirit on her own, with trips to Hawaii, Israel, China and on Road Scholar excursions. Sharon has been a State Arts Board panelist, has advised art collectors and has done appraisals. She is in three book clubs, a film review group, Mussar courses and a Judaism seminar with Rabbi Barry Cytron. Symphony concerts, plays and poetry readings are among her cultural activities. For 50 years Sharon was a tour guide at Walker Art Center, starting in 1971 when the Barnes building opened. Although the Tour Guide program has recently been eliminated she will always be a Walker fan. She has fond memories of guiding BOND members at the museum.

Sharon enjoys BOND programs, especially site visits, unique speakers and Short Story Group. She respects BOND'S charitable mission and the hard work involved in reaching fundraising goals, even through a tough COVID period. Sharon helps edit BOND's newsletter, which she feels is very well-composed by Barbara Parks and contributors.
